HAVING FUN IS NOT TRIVIAL

THEY improv: Improv-ing Your Events

THEY improv leads the way for corporate and party entertainment with their Game Shows using Trivia. These shows are designed to entertain and to produce positive results. Participants in the games have fun while lowering their personal barriers and enhancing their personal relationships.

Each show is individualized with elements adjusted based on the needs of the audience. This includes shifting from ratings G through NC-17, changing topics to fit the industry of our Clients, using a few members of the audience on stage or utilizing everyone in the place operating in teams to just about any configuration you can think of.

The style of show to be used is customized to the audience and venue. It's the questions that cross all versions of the game. The questions can be found from all kinds of sources. This includes using true trivia from all branches of human knowledge, using industry-specific knowledge, using lessons that were to be learned from training activities or company-specific information to help esprit de corps.

The points can either be a straight measurement of success, or can be weighted based on participant confidence. For example, you may be asked 5 questions. You might be asked to rank them in terms of your confidence in the answer. The highest confidence answer might be worth 50 points, with the lowest at 10 points. Thus each team can manage their risks as well as rewards and it adds to the strategy of the game.

Shows come in ranges of 30, 45, 60 and 90 minutes. Prices range based on length of show, required cast members, size of audience, prizes, etc. Most of our shows are designed without accompanying music or visual projection, but they can be added at an additional charge.

Our Trivia Game Shows Include:

The Trivia Happy Hour: If your corporate group is looking for entertainment for after-hours, the Trivia Happy Hour brings the fun of trivia competition with the enjoyment of conversation with your fellow employees.

The Trivia Dinner: Sometimes a corporate group is having a dinner and either wants to enhance team work or simply get fellow employees to get to know one another. A trivia dinner allows questions to be provided to the audience and each table works together to solve the trivia.

The Trivia Game Show: If you prefer a more traditional game show format, THEY improv can bring a few audience members on-stage to compete against one another for not very expensive prizes.

Who Wants to Be The Trivia King: Loosely based on television's popular Who Wants To Be A Millionaire, this game has one person trying to answer a series of questions. The participant that gets the furthest through the trivia questions wins the prize.
